UCC BYLAWS REVISION

POLICY REVISION FOR 400-LEVEL COURSES: (Eff. Fall 2008 – 20093)
[GRD 0401]

The new policy for 400-level courses states:

400-Level Courses

Courses at the 400 level are designed to be flexible to the needs of students and programs. By definition, they are at a higher level of difficulty than 300-level courses and at a lower level than 500-level courses, but 400-level courses may be used or required for either undergraduate or graduate degree programs, depending on the curricular requirements of the degree program. Courses at the 400-level that are taken for credit in an undergraduate program cannot be used or repeated for credit in a graduate program. However, 400-level courses may be used for credit as part of a combined bachelor’s/master’s program. Individual master’s programs may limit the number of 400-level credits that can apply to the degree or require a specific number of 500-level credits for the degree. Students should consult with their advisors before taking 400-level courses.
